Training Journal

TJ gives learning and development the focus it needs. Our philosophy is to deliver informative, timely and practical content of the highest quality to assist anyone involved in workplace L&D. If your job is to nurture and grow skills and knowledge and to change attitudes to learning within your organisation, you should be a member.

TJ is committed to supporting your continuing professional development through in-depth features that analyse L&D principles in detail.

First published in 1965 as Training Officer, Dods Group PLC acquired the magazine in 2003 and re-branded it in 2005 as TJ: the publication for learning and development.
